Exhibition celebrates the art of monochrome photography

A group of Suffolk photographers will showcase their latest work at an Essex gallery from tomorrow.

For the first time, Suffolk Monochrome Group's exhibition will be hosted at the Swan House Gallery in Harwich, running for two weeks until June 17.

Barry Freeman, chairman of the group, said: "We're delighted to be able to showcase our latest collection of photos at the Swan House."

"We've never done so at this location before and it's a beautiful gallery."

The Suffolk

Monochrome Group consists of 12 members who celebrate the art of monochrome photography in a variety of forms.

You can catch the exhibition from June 2-17, Tuesday to Sunday at the Swan House Gallery, 14 Kings Head Street, Harwich.
